

The final sale of the 2013 winter season took place in Port Elizabeth today (3 December 2013), with 145 485 kg's on offer.

The sale was bigger than usual and although very good individual lots were offered, the rest of the offering was very mixed. These factors, combined with less participation from the buying houses resulted in a small correction in the market, with the average market indicator loosing 4% to close on R118.33. This is still 8.6% higher than the opening sale of the season and 31% higher than the closing sale of 2012. Although there was a correction across all types, the statistics for the season was extremely positive. The average market indicator for the season was R117.60, which is nearly 30% higher than the 2012 season.

A highest price of R451.00 per kg was paid for a bale of 25 micron super style winter kid mohair, the highest price of the season.

The upward trend in production is once again evident, with auction volumes nearly 5% up from 2012.

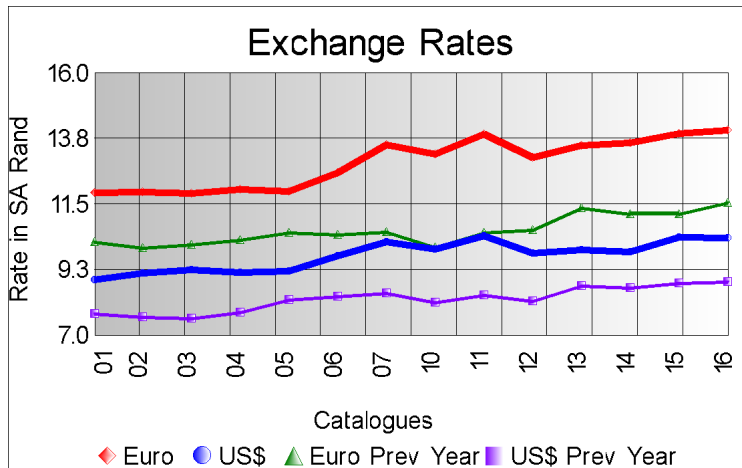

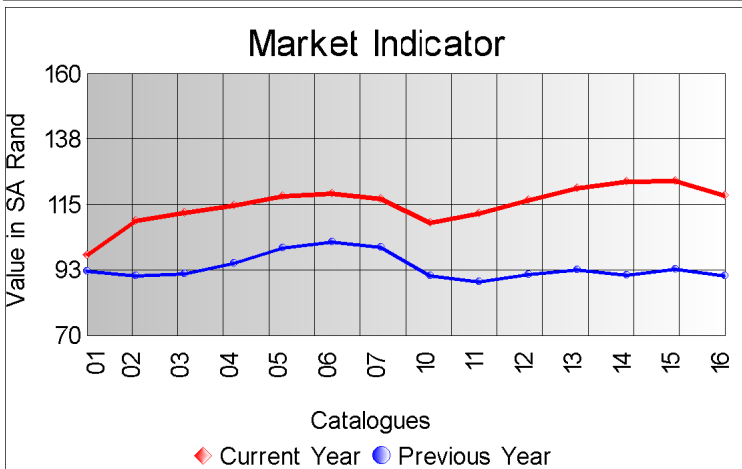

Compared to the previous sale prices were as follows:

Kids (winter) down 2.8%
 Young goats (winter) down 3%
 Fine adults down 2%
 Strong adults down 2.7%
 Average down 4%
